

My name is Rickie Hager and I am the Financial Coach at Fayette County Community Action Agency, Inc. After attending Penn State University and California University of PA, I achieved degrees in Business and Accounting with a specialization in Marketing. I have received numerous awards and honors: I am a Presidential Scholar winner at California University of PA and National Honor Society members of both universities. I have a longstanding background in Customer Relations with 5 years' experience in Accounting Principles. I work with various realms of the community from individuals to businesses, assisting in areas within education and financial strategies. I have been a certified Financial Coach through LISC for 5 years and I continue to attend trainings and webinars to improve my skills; continuing to help those within my community help themselves.
